Subject: Urgent Appeal for Investigation and International Legal Action – Ragnarøkk Strategic Alert on Ongoing Hybrid Sabotage Warfare and the Reconsideration of the Nuremberg Trials

Dear Mr. President,

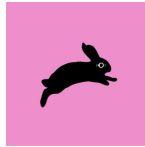

I am writing you respectfully to formally transmit the enclosed Ragnarøkk Position Paper: Faces of War – Reconsidering the Nuremberg Trials in Light of Ongoing Hybrid Sabotage Warfare. This document is the result of an extensive, multi-disciplinary investigation into systemic crimes against humanity that have persisted beyond the formal end of the Second World War, adapted to modern environments, and continue to claim victims today.

Our research—rooted in forensic blood analyses, pathomorphological evidence, semiotic mapping, and infrastructure assessment—reveals the coordinated use of chemical warfare agents (CWAs) in civilian spaces. These attacks are executed through concealed delivery systems embedded in urban infrastructure, combined with digital surveillance and administrative control over transportation, public infrastructure, property, health records, and legal identity. The doctrine mirrors historic extermination methodologies, now refined to operate in plain sight while evading public recognition.

The Ragnarøkk investigation confirms:

- The continuity of genocidal infrastructure and doctrine from WWII into the present.
- The targeted elimination of entire family lineages, including documented poisoning of royal dynasts and other historically significant bloodlines.
- The direct involvement of state-linked entities in concealing and administratively processing acts of mass harm.

The transnational character of the network, evidenced by consistent semiotic and operational markers across multiple countries.

In light of these findings, we urge:

- Immediate domestic and international investigation into identified networks.
- Forensic re-examination of historic cases linked to royal and aristocratic impersonation crimes.
- Extraordinary International Tribunal proceedings to revisit and expand the Nuremberg framework to account for contemporary extermination practices, including slow-acting CWAs and hybrid sabotage operations.

This is not a historical reflection—it is an urgent strategic alert. The war did not end; it transformed. Its weapons are now invisible chemicals, its frontlines our homes, hospitals, and streets. Without decisive action, the doctrine will continue to erode health, dismantle lineages, and undermine the rule of law.

In this discourse, we created the following system of linguistic attributions.

“Feel the Sound. Breathe by Soul.” – We recognized the method of warfare.

“Rain in the Flat.” – We identified the battlefield.

Faces of War. – We name the perpetrators.

Ragnarøkk – Is the strategic alert to end the ongoing war.

We respectfully request a meeting at the earliest possible opportunity to present the full evidentiary record and discuss mechanisms for coordinated legal action.

Sincerely yours,

Raevskaya-Repnina Anna Maria Serafima Sergeevna
